

Utility Invoice Auditing

Ensure You Are Not Overpaying

Utility companies and third-party suppliers who bill you for energy routinely make mistakes. Over the years, NuEnergen has observed everything from incorrect meter volumes to tax classification and rate issues. While these are not necessarily intentional, they do cost you extra money.

NuEnergen retains a team of highly-qualified energy auditors, with many years of experience in energy billing and the underlying tariffs/contracts from which invoices are derived. We have returned tens of millions of dollars to our customers all over the United States for all commodities.

How It Works

- The first step involves NuEnergen gaining access to your energy invoices, most usually through online portals and logins we create or share with you.
- Our team then scrubs the invoices by comparing them to our proprietary billing models which simulate how a bill should be calculated.
- We alert you to mistakes we've found, and also lead the communications to the respective provider to ensure you are made whole.

Devil In the Details

Finding mistakes is one thing; getting the refunds back is another. NuEnergen's track record is based upon our willingness to get into the weeds, and also pursue refunds to the highest levels, including state and regulatory bodies if so required.
